Name Breakout 2E: Review of Laws and Policies

Tues Nov 14

Time 3:15 PM End Time 4:45 PM

Presenter(s): Bruno Steinke Jim Aldridge Jessica Torrance

The speakers discussed the political mandate guiding the work of the Federal Officials in modern land claim agreements. Mainly, the implementation principles and the process of policy function in modern treaty land claims. The audience mentioned the tensions that exist in "agreement in principle" provisions in modern land claim agreements and the need to re-visit the contract provisions, citing "not sufficient to govern the economical costs of housing and water in Indigenous communities".

The panel, closed with highlighting the current federal review of Indigenous Policies under the Indigenous federal framework, as mandated by the Liberal government.
